

DEMOCRATIC NEWSLETTER JANUARY '08

MESSAGE FROM SENATOR FEINGOLD

Dear Wisconsin Progressive,

I hope that everyone had a safe and happy holiday season. While I will continue to stand up for the values we share, the New Year brings with it increased opportunity to get our country moving in the right direction. And while we must fight hard this year to take back the State Assembly, increase our seats in the State Senate, get veto-proof majorities in Congress, and elect a Democrat to the White House in November, there is an election in April that deserves our attention.

If last year's volatile State Supreme Court race was any glimpse of things to come, outside special interests will do everything they can to unseat Justice Louis Butler. Justice Butler is a highly regarded legal scholar who attended Lawrence University in Appleton and law school at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. For the last 11 years, he has served with distinction as a faculty member of the National Judicial College, where he teaches criminal law to judges from across the country and around the world. Justice Butler has spent the last 15 years as a judge, building a record we can all be proud of as he's worked to make our state stronger and safer.

There are so many important issues that the Wisconsin Supreme Court rules on every year, and the Justices that serve on the Court make decisions that can have a dramatic influence on our state for generations to come. We need leaders like Justice Butler to continue to bring his values, experience and independence to the highest court in Wisconsin.

I'm going to fight to keep him on the State Supreme Court and I hope you will join me. For more information, or to join our effort to support Justice Butler, please contact Butler Campaign Coordinator Peter Knudson at peter@louisbutler.com or (414) 755-2067.

With high hopes,

Russ Feingold
United States Senator
www.russfeingold.org

VOLUME 1, ISSUE 1

In this issue:

- Message From The Chair P. 2
- A New Year's Resolution... P. 3
By Rep. Jennifer Shilling
- Paper Mooned (Or, The Republicans: Crazy, or Nuts?) P. 4
By Ellis Weiner
- 50 Years Later-Remembering The Courage Of The Little Rock Nine P. 6
By Brian Gilmore
- No Wonder they called him Turd Blossom P. 7
By Garrison Keillor

UPCOMING EVENTS

LCDP General Party Meeting

Monday, January 21, 2008
6:30 P.M. Ho Chunk Nation
3 Rivers House, 724 Main St. La Crosse

(Meeting will precede the City-wide Martin Luther King Jr. event at 7:00 P.M. at the English Lutheran Church, 1509 King St., in La Crosse. LCDP meeting will adjourn early to encourage members to attend MLK event)

LCDP General Party Meeting

Monday, February 18, 2008
7:00-9:00 P.M. Ho Chunk Nation
3 Rivers House, 724 Main St. La Crosse
(Single Payer Health Care Presentation & National Convention Delegate Seminar)

3rd CD Convention

Saturday March 29 Jake's Northwoods
1132 Angelo Rd. Sparta, WI - Time TBA

Wisconsin Presidential Primary

Tuesday, February 19, 2008
PLEASE REMEMBER TO VOTE

LA CROSSE COUNTY
DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Our Elected Officials

Governor James Doyle

Office of the Governor
115 East State Capitol
Madison, WI 53702
(608) 266-1212
(608) 267-8983 Fax
Email: wisgov.state.wi.us/contact.asp, www.wisgov.state.wi.us

Lt. Governor, Barbara Lawton

Room 19, East State Capitol
Madison, WI 53701
(608) 266-3516
(608) 267-3571 Fax
Email: ltgov@ltgov.state.wi.us
www.ltgov.state.wi.us

Senator, Russ Feingold:

716 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, DC 20510
Ph: (202) 224-5323, Fax:(202)
224-2725
Email:
russ_feingold@feingold.senate.gov
<http://www.feingold.senate.gov>

Senator, Herb Kohl:

330 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, DC 20510
Ph: (202) 224-5653, Fax:(202)
224-9787
Email: herb_kohl@kohl.senate.gov
Webpage: <http://www.kohl.senate.gov>

Congressman, Ron Kind:

1406 Longworth House Office
Building
Washington, DC 20510
Ph: (202) 225-5506, Fax: (202)
225-5739
Email: ronkind@mail.house.gov
Web page: http://www.house.gov/kind/

Assembly Representative, Jennifer Shilling:

State Capitol 120 North
P.O. Box 8953
Madison, WI 53703-8953
Ph: (608) 266-5780, Local: (608)
788-9854
Email: rep.shilling@legis.state.wi.us

2008 ANNOUNCED PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES

Joe Biden for President

Biden for President
P.O. Box 371
Wilmington, DE 19899
<http://www.joebiden.com>

Hillary Clinton for President

PO Box 2361<
Chester, VA 23831
(804) 545-3472 (Tel)
<http://www.votehillary.org>

Chris Dodd for President

PO Box 270701
West Hartford, CT 06127
(860) 561-8843 (tel -CT)
(202)-737-3633 (tel-DC)
(860) 561-8893(fax)

John Edwards for President

410 Market St.
Suite 400
Chapel Hill, NC 27516
(202) 955-4511 (Tel)
(202) 548-4608 (Fax)<
<http://johnedwards.com>

Dennis Kucinich for President

P.O. Box 110180
Cleveland, Ohio 44111
1-(877) 413-3664
<http://kucinich.us>

Barack Obama for President

P.O. Box 802798
Chicago, IL 60680
(866) 575-8480
<http://www.barackobama.com>

Bill Richardson for President

811 St. Michaels Dr
Suite 206
Santa Fe, NM 87505
(505) 982-2291 (tel)
(505) 982-3652 (fax)

Mike Gravel for President

P.O. Box 948
Arlington, VA 22216-0948
703-652-4698(tel)
703-349-2958(fax)
www.gravel2008.us

MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIR

Dear Fellow Democrats,

The Iowa caucuses should make plain that America wants an end to far right governance. Participation in the Democratic Caucus was 236,000 -- more than double that of the Republican Caucus and four times the amount of participants as compared to 2000, the last open presidential year. This bodes well for the February 19 Wisconsin primary.

I would urge all party members to attend the city-wide Martin Luther King Jr. event on January 21 at English Lutheran Church and also to attend the progressive's State of the Union on February 1st at Concordia Ballroom. Building bridges to all like minded people in the area can only help elect Democrats in the fall.

Among Dr. Martin Luther King's many legacies is a simple one: the need to act with urgency in the present and on a personal level to force change on a national level. Dr. King did not wait for other political leaders or count on the passage of time to weaken Jim Crow -- he simply followed his conscience.

While we can and should ask for the same courage in our political leaders, each of us should be prepared to do our part to take this nation back from radical right-wing that is today's Republican Party.

Fabio Burgos

Chair

La Crosse County Democratic Party

LA CROSSE COUNTY
DEMOCRATIC PARTY

PAC, PARTY & NATIONAL CAMPAIGN INFORMATION

The Democratic Party of Wisconsin (DPW)

222 W. Washington Ave. Suite 150
Madison, Wisconsin 53703
(608) 255-5172 (tel)
(608) 255-8919 (fax)
www.wisdems.org

Democratic Leadership Council (DLC)

600 Pennsylvania Ave., SE
Suite 400
Washington, DC 20003
(202) 544-0007(tel)
www.DLC.org

Ron Kind for Congress

P.O. Box 184
La Crosse, WI 54602-0184
608.782.3444
608.782.4433 (fax)
www.kindforcongress.org

Progressive Patriots Fund
(Russ Feingold, Chair)

PO Box 628008
Middleton, WI 53562
(608) 831-1308 (Tel)
(608) 831-1348 (Fax)
www.progressivepatriotsfund.com

LCDP MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE

The LCDP needs volunteers now to for party building and 2008 election preparation. We need a special effort in '08, particularly in the 94th Assembly District. The membership committee will coordinate this effort. Please contact either:

Vicki Burke at 781-0737 or irelandvicki@aim.com

Nathan Montgomery at 780-6654 or nmontgo20@aim.com

Hank Zumach at 457-2545 or zumach@mwt.net

A New Year's Resolution for the State Assembly: Let's Get to Work

By Rep. Jennifer Shilling

Now that the holiday season has passed and members of the Legislature are turning their attention to the upcoming spring floor period, I would like to take this opportunity to make a New Year's resolution for the State Assembly: let's get to work and make the most of the short time we have left in this session.

After twelve months of session that was marked by a four month budget delay, we are left with only a handful of session days remaining. Yet some of the biggest issues facing our state have not been tackled. Too many people still don't have access to quality, affordable health care, too many middle-class families are still living paycheck to paycheck, on the edge of financial disaster, and too many dangerous toxins continue to be released into our natural environment.

While I remain skeptical that the Republican-controlled Assembly will make a serious effort to address these issues, I am hopeful that my colleagues on the other side of the aisle will understand the importance of passing a few key pieces of legislation.

For example, these three common sense proposals are a good place to start:

Catastrophic Care Pool for Small Businesses

One of the Governor's proposals that was not included in the final budget compromise was the creation of a statewide catastrophic care pool for small businesses. This pool would allow small business owners to enroll their highest cost employees in the statewide pool which would significantly lower the premium costs for the rest of their employees. Similar programs in other states have reduced premiums by as much as 30%.

The Home Owners Property tax Exemption (AB 452), or HOPE, is an attempt to rebalance an unfair tax system in Wisconsin that has prioritized tax loopholes for corporations over property tax relief for middle class families. The HOPE plan would crack down on corporate tax evaders and ensure they pay their fair share. By doing so the state can afford to reduce the property tax burden for every homeowner in the state by at least $600 per homeowner.

Combat the causes of Climate Change (AB 157)

Currently there is no federal law restricting the emission of green houses gases. The Bush Administration has failed to take action to address the action, Wisconsin must step up and be a leader. The threat to the well-being of our children and future generations is too great to simply do nothing.

Helping small businesses provide health insurance to their employees, restoring fairness to our tax system, reducing the property tax burden on homeowners, and restricting the amount of dangerous chemicals that are being dumped into our air, water, and land are important steps for improving the overall quality of life for everyone living in Wisconsin.

The people of Wisconsin elected their state representatives to be their voices in Madison, not to simply "play defense". Our time in this session is limited; let's hope the Republicans in the Assembly get serious about working with Governor Doyle and Democrats in the Legislature so we can achieve something positive during the spring floor period.

Paper Mooned (Or, The Republicans: Crazy, or Nuts?)

By Ellis Weiner

Posted January 2, 2008 06:41PM (EST)

Say it's only a paper moon
Sailing over a cardboard sea
It's the Party of Make-Believe
It's called the G.O.P.

First Ann Coulter tells us Joseph McCarthy was a national hero. Now Jonah Goldberg tells us the Nazis were leftists (never mind all those socialists and communists they killed, or their close collaboration with private industry,) and that liberals are fascists because some of them, like Hitler, are vegetarians. "The Nazis took food very, very seriously," Goldberg writes, in case any of us thought the Nazis didn't take food seriously.

First President Bush tells us Osama Bin Laden is our mortal enemy. Then he tells us he doesn't think about him very much. We were attacked by Saudi Arabians living in Afghanistan, so under Bush's command we attack Iraq and declare "Mission Accomplished."

First Dick Cheney says we'll be welcomed as liberators; then he says the insurgency is in its "last throes" when, really, it's in its first throes. And we're not allowed to know which energy companies are helping him to write energy policy so that they feel secure.

Bush says God speaks to him, then he vetoes health insurance for children. Pat Robertson says God caused Hurricane Katrina because homosexuals are wicked (and Jerry Falwell agrees), but fails to explain why God didn't send a hurricane at New York, L.A., or San Francisco, where the real homosexuals live.

Alberto Gonzalez (not the Attorney Corporal or the Attorney Captain -- the Attorney General) can't remember anything and can't remember what he said he can't remember. Clarence Thomas, the greatest beneficiary of affirmative action in history and a man who has risen to literally the highest position possible for someone in his profession, is against affirmative action, feels victimized and sorry for himself, is angry at almost everybody, and doesn't really "like" the job.

Condoleezza Rice warns us that Saddam has nuclear weapons ready to create a "mushroom cloud" when, as intelligence reports said, he didn't. Meanwhile Pakistan, which does have nuclear weapons, is paid billions of dollars and its military dictator is coddled and proclaimed a "good friend" while one of his physicists sells nukes to all comers and Al Qaeda is allowed to frolic free on his border. Now Musharraf and his government face collapse and chaos while Rice worries about her "legacy."

Larry Craig says he's not gay but is caught soliciting gay sex. Mark Foley says he's not gay but is caught flirting with and hustling male Congressional pages. David Vitter is vigorously in favor of "abstinence education" but is caught cavorting (in a diaper) with prostitutes.

William Bennett, who pontificates about "virtue," is an avid gambler.

Rush Limbaugh, who has said that the way to treat people who illegally use drugs is to "find the ones who are getting away with it, convict them and send them up the river," is caught illegally using drugs (and admits to it) but is not, himself, sent up the river.

And now look: of the two leading Republican candidates for president, one is a man who takes the Bible literally and doesn't "believe in" evolution, while the other is a man whose religion holds that Jesus came to America, that Native Americans are descendants of the Hebrews of Israel, and that early (2200 BC-600 BC) inhabitants of North America migrated here from the Middle East. With chariots.

Mike Huckabee believes in the Rapture. Mitt Romney believes in the transparently-fraudulent Book of Mormon. And these two cartoon characters, Mike 'n' Mitt, are the GOP front-runners for the White House.

Take one step back from this carnival of make-believe and let's pretend, and it becomes clear: The Republican Party has become an aggregation of people who prefer to live in a world of fantasy -- and their first fantasy, the Ur-myth on which the entire conceit rests, is (classically) "we are the realists."

It degrades, into farce and New-speak, from there. The perpetrators and defenders of the outing of a CIA agent are "patriots." Tom De-Lay is a "leader" and Newt Gingrich is a "visionary." The President plays guitar while New Orleans drowns, causes a hundred thousand Americans and Iraqis to be killed or injured, and outsources torture, and it's the Democrats who, per the repellent Ramesh Ponnuru, are the "party of death."

It's one thing to praise "faith." It's another to be, not only indifferent to the idea of objective truth, but actively hostile to it -- unless, of course, like any other good psychopath, they're not aware of their condition. Who knows what they really think is going on in the U.S., in the world, and in their own heads?

Does George W. Bush really believe that he is a good Christian? Does he really believe he's a "compassionate conservative"? Does Ann Coulter mean what she writes? Does Dick Cheney think he's done a good job? Does Rudy Giuliani mean well?

We don't know. We probably can't know. They probably don't know. They don't want to know. Do we want to know? I don't know.

I do know this: When the Supreme Court halted the vote-counting in Florida in 2000 and anointed Bush president, it was the equivalent of dropping that gang of boys on that island in Lord of the Flies. Actually, it was worse: they didn't have any adult supervision. The administration, supposedly, did. But the adults, in the form of the Democrats and the media, were too intimidated (by the tragedy of 9-11, by their corporate masters, by careerist insecurity) to do any supervising.

And so for seven years, under the watchful eye of the genial, soulless Karl Rove, Republicans from sea to shining sea pigged out, yielding to their most gluttonous impulses and indulging their pettiest proclivities. The result? Like Saddam Hussein's (evil, awful) sons, the Republican Party, drunk on power and unmediated by any sensible outside force, went insane.

Yes, we've all enjoyed an easy laugh or two, identifying their obvious hypocrisies and compiling mile-long lists of their lies. But let's not be disingenuous: The sex scandals and the corruption; the no-bid contracts and the sweetheart deals; the payoffs and the fired U.S. Attorneys, the missing billions in Iraq and the incriminating emails that either are or aren't destroyed -- look, nobody's perfect. The Democrats have their own skeletons rattling around in their own walk-in closets.

But read the above rundown and add the ten thousand things there isn't room enough to cite... Factor out the witting lies and brute propaganda... Take out the deceptions they committed on purpose (or think they did), and just leave the stuff about which they are (or think they are) sincere, and you get a picture of mass pathology.

It has gotten so that you have to muster all the compassion and understanding of which you are capable just to think of the Republicans as a party of greedy corporatists manipulating the credulous, the provincial, and the bigoted. That's the nice way of putting it. But it doesn't capture the full picture of the sheer moral and intellectual decay of these people and this institution.

Are you happy now, Bill Buckley? Is this your idea of an honorable and worthy political party, Newt Gingrich? Is this what you mean by "conservative," Bill Kristol? Does it make you proud to be their apologist, David Brooks? Is there anything here you'd like to defend, Peggy Noonan? Glad to be one of the gang, Fred Barnes? Pleased with what you've accomplished, Brit Hume?

Of course, they could all answer, "You bet!" and claim to have deliberately engineered all of this on purpose and with open eyes. Which would really be sick. ■

50 YEARS LATER REMEMBERING THE COURAGE OF THE LITTLE ROCK NINE

BY BRIAN GILMORE

AUGUST 21, 2007

As school began in Little Rock, Ark., 50 years ago, the bravery of nine young African-American students changed U.S. history. Sadly, the current state of racial diversity in public education is again under attack, making it even more important to celebrate the courage of the Little Rock Nine.

Here are their names: Daisy Bates, Minnijean Brown, Elizabeth Eckford, Ernest Green, Thelma Mothershed, Melba Pattillo, Gloria Ray, Terrence Roberts, Jefferson Thomas and Carlotta Walls.

Three years after the Brown v. Board of Education decision ordered the integration of public schools, Arkansas, a southern state with a Jim Crow legacy, was finally desegregating its schools, including Central High School. At the time, the high school had more than 1,900 students, all white. The city had delayed the school's integration after white parents had obtained a state court injunction that prevented black students from attending Central High. But a federal judge lifted the injunction.

Still, Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus refused to obey the court order, calling in 270 members of the Arkansas National Guard to the school on Sept. 3, 1957. The following day, the guardsmen turned the nine students away. What's worse, an angry mob met them at the school.

The issue was at a standstill for several weeks, and Americans across the country were horrified at the images of hatred they saw in their national papers and on television.

Woodrow Mann, mayor of Little Rock at the time, showed courage when he called President Dwight Eisenhower to ask for help. Eisenhower, a war hero, fortunately made the right moves.

He not only ordered federal troops to escort the students into school, but he also federalized the Arkansas National Guard, placing them under his command.

The Little Rock Nine began receiving a military escort as they entered school and attended their classes in late September 1957. Their military escort was diminished gradually and was soon unnecessary by November.

Today, some school districts in the United States are experiencing resegregation as a result of "white flight" to the suburbs and segregated housing patterns. Making matters worse, a U.S. Supreme Court decision this summer ended voluntary racial diversity programs in the public schools in Louisville and Seattle. With its controversial decision, the high court essentially sided with Gov. Faubus -- not the Little Rock Nine. That's how backward the decision was.

Half a century ago, nine courageous, young African-Americans stepped into history and made us all proud. But this spring, five of the nine Supreme Court justices rolled back the clocks.

For the sake of the Little Rock Nine and for the sake of racial justice and equality, we must continue to fight for equal education for all children in this country, regardless of race or ethnicity.

(Courtesy Will Counts)

No wonder they called him Turd Blossom

Karl Rove could put fecal matter on his lapel and call it a boutonniere. Goodbye and good riddance.

By Garrison Keillor

Aug. 15, 2007 | What truly cheers me up through these dog days of summer is the thought that two old friends of mine are up north on a canoe trip in the Boundary Waters Canoe Area and that I am not there with them. I am here, reading the paper, and if I wanted to go to a movie, I could go, and if I wished to use a flush toilet, I could do that, too. But for the grace of God, I could be sitting on the ground, filthy, embittered, a homeless person, eating freeze-dried food and listening to the Master Woodsman tell you what a great experience you're having and meanwhile the woods are not lovely, just dark and deep, and a cloud of mosquitoes has come out to avenge the white man's colonizing of North America. I have been on canoe trips, I know what goes on.

Every canoe trip has a self-appointed Master Woodsman. In civilian life he may be a mild-mannered clerk in a cubicle, but out on the trail he is transformed into the song leader, pathfinder, the great helmsman, the tier of correct knots, and the authority on bears. He shows you how to do everything except the things you really need to do, such as 1) move your bowels in some dignified manner and 2) get out of here and find a hotel. Your body aches from sleeping on the ground, your bowels have turned to stone, and you are thinking about "Lord of the Flies" and what it says about the fragility of civilization, but he is relentlessly upbeat. And then it dawns on you: Your suffering is what turns him on. The man is a sadist.

At this point, the Current Administration is like a very, very bad canoe trip with a week left to go, and Mr. Rove is the Head Counselor who has found a path to the highway. He left the White House with a wave and a grin and not in handcuffs as some had hoped, followed by the usual backwash of commentary on how important he was, or how not important in comparison to how important some people thought he was, and what I find eerie about the man is his inexhaustible self-confidence and optimism. He was the Master Woodsman. According to some accounts, his positive outlook was responsible for the Current Occupant's sunny disposition in the face of bad news. No wonder Mr. Rove's nickname was Turd Blossom. He could put fecal matter on his lapel and call it a boutonniere.

There are basically two types of Americans and the first is the type that most of the world considers typical: the Americans who when the big smiley preacher stands in the pulpit and says, "How about everybody turn around and shake hands with the person behind you and give them a big howdy!" they all turn around and shake and say howdy and feel sort of uplifted by this. And then there are the Americans who would do anything to avoid this, including staying away from church entirely.

The first type, when the preacher says he is now going to show us a way we can double our net worth in the next year, thinks, "Boy, this is my lucky day." The second does not. There are more of the second type than the first.

Mr. Rove believed in himself 150 percent and believed he could make history and create the Permanent Republican Majority to run the country, but when people look at what he actually brought to pass -- this wretched war that costs us $10 billion a month or more, a mortgaged economy, the corruption of the Department of Justice -- somehow the PRM seems less and less interesting.

His last big assignment was to get the immigration bill passed. It failed in large part because Congress is tired of Mr. Rove and his boy-genius high-handedness. Instead, Homeland Security announced a new crackdown on illegal immigrants, which aroused protests from farmers who said that 70 percent of farm workers today are illegal -- a stunning fact, if true: Most of the people who pick our beans and tomatoes are men and women forced to sneak across the border, and why? Because they're a security threat? No. So that we can get them cheap, that's why.

Mr. Rove spoke with great confidence about beans and tomatoes and showed slides and got standing ovations in many places, but he didn't get the crops in. Goodbye and good riddance.

(Garrison Keillor's "A Prairie Home Companion" can be heard Saturday nights on public radio stations across the country.)

© 2007 by Garrison Keillor. All rights reserved. Distributed by Tribune Media Services, Inc.

LA CROSSE COUNTY
DEMOCRATIC PARTY

2008 Democratic Party of Wisconsin Convention
June 13-14
Stevens Point Holiday Inn &
Convention Center
Stevens Point, WI

LCDP Fall Dinner
Saturday, October 18th 5:30
to 9:00 P.M.
Concordia Ballroom 1129
La Crosse St., La Crosse

Election Day 2008
Tuesday, November 4th
Polls Open: 7:00am-8:00pm

La Crosse County
DEMOCRATIC PARTY
P.O. Box 1861
La Crosse, WI 54602-1861

*Authorized and paid for by the La Crosse County Democratic Party, Fabio A. Burgos, Chair; Kris Troyanek Treasurer
The content herein is not authorized by any candidate or candidates committee.*

PRSRST STD
U.S. POSTAGE
LA CROSSE, WI
PERMIT NO.
588

Attention all Party Members:

The Newsletter is now online. If you don't receive the online newsletter and haven't received online updates through the campaign, please update your address by sending an email to: laxdems@yahoo.com
Visit us online at: LaxDems.com

IT'S TIME TO RENEW YOUR MEMBERSHIP FOR 2008!

*Yes please enroll me, and/or my family, as a member of the La Crosse County Democratic Party for 2008!!
Enclosed is payment for dues according to type of membership requested.*

Please Check Due Structure that applies

Name _____
Address _____
City _____
State _____ Zip Code _____
Home/Cell Phone _____
Work Phone _____
Email Address _____
Occupation _____
Assembly District: 94th _____ 95th _____ Ward _____

- ___ $25 General Membership
($10 each for up to 3 additional members)
- ___ $ 10 Senior Citizen
- ___ $35 Pairs (Up to Two Memberships)
- ___ $45 Activist (Up to 3)
- ___ $75 Family Membership
- ___ $120 Supporting Membership
- ___ $240 Friend
- ___ $600 Patron
- ___ $1200 Investor
- ___ $2400 Benefactor

*Make checks payable to;
The La Crosse County Democratic Party
P.O. Box 1861
La Crosse WI 54602-1861*

I recommend contacting as a possible member

Name _____
Phone _____
Email _____

YES! I am interested in volunteering for party activities!